Tenderling Named Best of Clutch Winner in Web Development & Design

May 2, 2025

Austin, Texas: Tenderling is thrilled to announce that it has been listed as a winner of the Best of Clutch Awards in the Web Development & Web Design category. This recognition highlights the most innovative, results-driven agencies across the U.S. who are shaping the future of digital experiences.

The Best of Clutch Awards is a competitive, two-stage process. Agencies first submit a standout project that showcases creative execution, technical skill and business impact. After opening to public voting, top finalists are then evaluated by a panel of expert judges who select the year's winning entries.

"We're thrilled to receive this award, and we're so proud of everything our team has done to get here," said Partner James W Moore. "This team deserves to be recognized for their incredible work."

"This year's winners demonstrated the highest level of excellence in their submitted projects—from UX innovation to measurable business outcomes," said Amanda Baum, SVP of Product at Clutch. "These firms represent the gold standard in web development and design."

Clutch received hundreds of submissions for the 2025 awards across Digital Marketing and Web Development & Design. Final winners were chosen based on a combination of public support and scoring from an elite panel of judges, including Amanda Natividad (VP of Marketing, SparkToro), Seth Besmertnik (CEO, Conductor), and Amanda Baum (SVP of Product, Clutch).

Tenderling is proud to be recognized as a top-performing agency that helps brands build more thoughtful, engaging, and high-performing digital experiences. View the full list of Best of Clutch winners in the Web Development & Web Design category here.
